

South Central Historical Archaeology Conference
National Center for Preservation Technology and Training
Northwestern State University

September 12-14, 2003

Passport In Time Project in Natchitoches Parish: Ground Truthing Remote Sensing Technology at the Old Spanish Oak Site.

Velicia Bergstrom, Forest Heritage Program Manager, Kisatchie National Forest.

Preliminary Results of the Pointe Coupee Survey Project.

Rob Mann, Southeastern Regional Archaeologist, Louisiana State University.

The Amand Broussard Site (16IB75) and Early Acadian Archaeological Project

Mark A. Rees, Assistant Professor, University of Louisiana at Lafayette.

Excavations on Juliette Street: Public Engagement and Archaeology in Downtown Dallas, Texas.

James M. Davidson and Jamie C. Brandon, University of Texas at Austin.

Cane River National Heritage Area: An Overview

Nancy Morgan, Director, Cane River National Heritage Area

Spanish in Northwestern Louisiana

Comfort Pratt, Associate Professor, Northwestern State University

An Overview of Archeological Investigations at Cane River Creole National Historical Park, 1996-2001

Christina Miller, Cultural Resource Specialist, Natchez Trace Parkway

History of the Cane River Creoles

Micky Moran, Cane River Creole Historian

"Y'allain'tsposedtbehere!": Interrupted Intermittent Investigations at an Early/Mid-19th Century Choctaw Refuge Site in Southeast Arkansas

Marvin Jeter, Station Archeologist, Arkansas Archeological Survey, UAM Station, Monticello.

The Fort Jesup Archaeological Project: Status Of Current Research

Tommy Hailey, Assistant Professor, Northwestern State University

The Picture of Good Health: Patent Medicine Advertisements as a Reflection of Nineteenth Century Social Issues

Elizabeth L. Davoli, Archaeologist, Louisiana Dept. of Transportation and Development

Historic Indian Burial from St. Mary Parish.

Chip McGimsey, Regional Archaeologist, University of Lafayette, Louisiana

An Analysis of Pottery Sherds Collected by Caroline Dorman in 1935 from the Fish Hatchery Site, a Late 17th Century Caddoan Burial Site in Natchitoches, Louisiana

Gilen Meibaum-Notwood, Northwestern State University Undergraduate

Humans, Horses, and Hexes

Jay C. Blaine, Texas Volunteer Archeological Steward

Integrating Archaeology and Living History in the Interpretation of Los Adaes

Ray Berthelot, Chief of Interpretive Services, Louisiana Office of State Parks

Powered Parachute Aerial Archaeology: A New Approach To Remote Sensing

Tommy Railey, Assistant Professor, Northwestern State University

The Pierre Robleau Site: A Rural Household at the Time of the Louisiana Purchase

Jeffrey S. Girard, Regional Archaeologist, Northwestern State University

Heritage Education -- Louisiana: An Overview

Sheila Richmond, Heritage Education Program Manager, National Center for Preservation Technology and Training

From Napoleon to Ball: A Very Brief History on Fruit Jars

Mary V. Farmer, Station Assistant, Arkansas Archeological Survey, UAPB Station, Pine Bluff.

Following the Red Brick Road: DOTD'S Cultural Resources Projects 2002/2003

Elizabeth L. Davoli, Archaeologist, Louisiana Dept. of Transportation and Development

Raising the Dead: Cemetery Exhumation Beneath Runway Charlie at the Memphis, Shelby County Airport

Warren J. Oster and Jamison P. Richardson (Weaver & Associates, LLC.)

American Cemetery Project

ElizaBeth Bede Guin, DuPont Materials Research Fellow, National Center for Preservation Technology and Training, David Morgan, Assistant Director, Cultural Resources Office, Northwestern State University

Fieldtrip:

Oakland and Magnolia Plantation tours, Cane River Creole National Historical Park.